Translating global advocacy

ELEVATE 2030 IN SIGHT STRATEGY PILLAR

How do we effectively bridge the global to local gap and drive tangible progress in eye health initiatives across diverse regional contexts? Build your knowledge and understanding of global policies and approaches, such as those employed by the United Nations and the World Health Organization, to better inform national advocacy and policy strategies, and hold governments accountable to their commitments.

The global eye health research agenda

INTEGRATE 2030 IN SIGHT STRATEGY PILLAR

Research is critical to addressing the challenges in implementing eye care to deliver the scale, reach and quality of eye care demanded in IPEC and 2030 In Sight. Join us to discover the evidence gaps and emerging opportunities to work together on a collective research agenda.

Diabetes and eye health: a call to action

ELEVATE 2030 IN SIGHT STRATEGY PILLAR

Diabetic retinopathy is the fifth highest cause of blindness globally and the only cause with a prevalence that has continued to increase in the last decades. If we do not act today diabetic retinopathy will become an insurmountable challenge in the future. Building on the newly launched IDF and IAPB policy recommendations for diabetic retinopathy, this session will be a call of action to stop visual loss in people with diabetes and transform tomorrow.

Queer eye care: elevating eye health in the LGBTQAI+ community

ACTIVATE 2030 IN SIGHT STRATEGY PILLAR

In cross-over with Mexico City Pride Week, this session is dedicated to exploring the unique challenges and opportunities surrounding eye health within the LGBTQAI+ community. The panel of experts will delve into the intersections of identity, healthcare access, and societal barriers that impact vision care for LGBTQAI+ individuals sharing insights, best practices, and innovative approaches to promoting eye health equity and inclusivity. The session will also explore how community-driven initiatives, advocacy efforts, and allyship can play a vital role in ensuring that everyone, regardless of sexual orientation or gender identity, has access to quality eye care.

Eye health and the indigenous populations: bridging the gap

INTEGRATE 2030 IN SIGHT STRATEGY PILLAR

Indigenous Peoples know the solutions that work best for them – how have you embraced this in your approach? Do you know where to start? Where do your accountabilities lie? The panellists will discuss on how integral it is to elevate Indigenous Peoples voices and ensure that they are heard in terms of what services they need, how they should be delivered, and what accountability looks like for them to shift the inequities faced in eye care and health care more broadly. The session will also deliberate on how addressing eye care needs of Indigenous Peoples is an opportunity to highlight a different approach that achieves success for those most in need.
